ALBERTA'S DISAPPEARING GRIZZLIES

6,000 – 9,000

Historical number of grizzlies in Alberta.

1,000

2002 – Number of grizzlies estimated in Alberta.

Alberta Government Endangered Species Conservation Committee recommends listing of grizzly as “threatened.”

Less than 500

2007 – New scientific studies suggest that we have been over-estimating grizzly numbers in Alberta for many years. The latest population estimates suggest there are less than 500 bears remaining.

2008 – ???

It's time to act now, before it is too late!

Grizzlies in Alberta are in trouble because of habitat destruction.

If grizzly bear habitat is protected, then other wilderness values – clean water, recreation opportunities and other wildlife populations – will be protected too.
