As 2023 rolls along, our conservation staff are busy working on a variety of issues affecting wilderness in places throughout Alberta. In this newsletter we highlight the work of Ruiping Luo and Devon Earl and their priorities for 2023 in their areas of focus - the Grasslands and Eastern Slopes.

Don't forget that next Tuesday, January 31 is our first talk of 2023! Join Calgary City Planners Josh White and Matthew Sheldrake to learn about how they are attempting to balance environmental conservation, housing markets, climate change and economic development. There will be the opportunity for questions after the presentation.
